

REPUBLICAN ORGAN EXPOSES CITY HALL: EXAMINERS MAKE REPORT

TROUBLES OF G. O. P. CITY OFFICIALS PILING UP IN RAPID ORDER

Follow Failure to Complete Water Reservoir and Much Other Inefficient Handling of City's Business

A bombshell was thrown into the ranks of the Republican organization in Lima Wednesday morning when the Lima Republican-Gazette, official organ of the party in city, county and Northwestern Ohio, came out in a front page spread article, "showing up" the Republican city council.

Following the Gazette story, which attracted widespread attention because of its boldness and its attack upon its own party, came the report of the finding of the state examiner that other departments of the Republican city administration had been found to be functioning improperly.

The attacks from these quarters came closely upon the heels of the city administration's indecisive action upon other matters, notably the Ohio Electric's poor service in electric lights and street car utilities, and the miserable failure of the water works reservoir, the building of the South Main street bridge, which residents claim is too narrow for safety, and the utter inability to get public improvements started.

Gazette Very Bold

Without mincing words or sparing names the Republican-Gazette went right after the City Council with a sharp stick this morning, the article being reproduced here for the benefit of many thousand readers of the Lima Times, who otherwise would not get to see the article which has caused so much talk:

"A new chapter in the dealings of certain members of city council with the Lima Natural Gas company was exposed yesterday with discovery that seven members had petitioned the utilities commission asking that the company be allowed to make a service charge here.

"The petition, which was formulated without the knowledge of the two members of the council, was filed with the state commission despite the fact that council had officially directed Melvin Light, city solicitor, to fight the company's demands.

"On the face of the records, council is shown as being opposed to granting the gas company the right to make this additional charge. But, in fact, the petition to the utilities commission, which has come to light, belies this stand, placing the councilmen in the position of asking the utilities commission to let the gas company have what it wants.

"After a hearing on June 11, the utilities body granted the gas company permission to charge every gas consumer thirty-five cents per month, regardless of whether or not any gas is used.

$29,000 More for Gas Company.
"The gas company estimated at the time that the service charge would add $29,000 annually to its income, while other estimates ranged as high as $40,000.

"Reports from Columbus yesterday, revealing the presentation of the petition from the councilmen, stated that the signers were Elmer E. Killian, first ward; George R. Muntis, third ward; E. R. Foster, fourth ward; J. F. Breneman, sixth ward, and Fred C. Snyder and Thomas M. Berry, councilmen-at-large.

"Minutes of city council show that on June 2, E. R. Foster, one of those signing the petition, moved that Solicitor Light go to Columbus to protect the city's interests in fighting the service charge. The section of the minutes says:

"On motion of Mr. Foster, seconded by Mr. Stiles, the city solicitor was instructed to attend the hearing before the public utilities commission June 11, 1919, in which the Lima Natural Gas company requests permission to make a service charge.

Mystery to Solicitor.
"Light had never heard of the petition, which puts seven members of council on record exactly opposite their instructions to him.

"Knifed in the back," was his comment when he was told last night.

"J. I. Heffner, council clerk, confirmed the reports that seven councilmen had signed the appeal. Councilmen Berry and Killian, however, both denied knowledge of the petition last night. Killian declared he did not remember having signed it.

Berry said, "I don't know anything about it. Something must be wrong. I never saw such a petition and don't remember agreeing to any such charge."

German Assembly Prepares Drastic Taxation Upon Capital and Incomes

(ASSOCIATED PRESS DISPATCH) BERLIN, July 16.—Prices on all foodstuffs have fallen with a crash in Berlin as a result of the lifting of the blockade. They began to show weakness when it was rumored that the embargo would be lifted but the real drop came only when illicit dealers with huge concealed stocks brought them out in a virtual panic to unload before competing supplies entered Germany.

Tons of provisions are being shipped in from occupied territories while everywhere in the city great stores of coffee, cocoa, butter, sausages and other supplies have made their appearance. Coffee prices fell from an average of 40 marks to below 20 yesterday and the product could easily be bought for 15. Other food prices were correspondingly cut.

WEIMAR, July 16.—It is reported that the government's new tax bill will include a surplus assessment on capital amounting to 30 per cent and also a drastic imperial income tax, the receipts from which will be apportioned among the federated states, according to their needs.

Mathias Erzberger, minister of finance, is understood to be planning to centralize the nation's tax assessments, obviating the necessity for an individual tax in financing part of the federated states. An increase in the general trading tax, especially on articles of luxury, is also planned. It includes a ten per cent levy on advertising.

BUOYRUS, July 16.—The Crawford county commissioners have voted to use brick on the four mile road improvement between Bucyrus and Gallion. The bid on the four miles of brick was $177,352.59, of which the state will pay $87,000.

PESTILENCE OF STRIKES RAGES THROUGHOUT CITIES OF ITALY

(ASSOCIATED PRESS DISPATCH) ROME, July 16.—Strike disorders occurred at various places in Italy. At Lucera eight persons were killed and thirty wounded. Near Genoa two "Reds" were killed in a fight with carabinieri.

The engagement with the "Reds" which occurred at Sestri Ponente, four miles west of Genoa, also resulted in the arrest of four "Reds." A general strike began at Caltanissetta, Sicily. The people there marched through the streets crying "Vive soviet!" and forced dealers in foodstuffs and other necessities to reduce their prices 50 per cent. Lucera is an ancient town in southern Italy, west northwest of Foggia.

CHAMP CLARK DEFENDS WILSON IN SPEECH FOR SOLDIERS' AID MEASURE

WASHINGTON, July 16.—Eighteen million dollars for the vocational training of injured soldiers, sailors and marines is provided for in an amendment to the sundry civil appropriation bill tentatively adopted by the House by a vote of 120 to 119. The appropriation measure originally passed by the House and vetoed by the President, carried only $6,000,000 for this purpose.

Republican may find fault with President Wilson, but "by the verdict of the peoples of the world he is the foremost in all the world," Champ Clark, Democrat leader, declared in an address today in the House during debate on the bill.

Answering a speech by Republican Leader Mondell, who asserted that if the President had been at home when the sundry civil bill was passed it would not have been necessary for him to veto it, Mr. Clark said Republicans delighted to find fault with almost everything Mr. Wilson did.

"I never have agreed with everything President Wilson did," Mr. Clark added, "but when he is right I will support him tooth and nail. Does the great Republican party expect to reduce itself to a concentrated growl?"

"The gentleman from Wyoming who has been attacking the President is the greatest growler that has been in any Congress, bar none. Anybody can find fault. People have found fault with the sun because there are spots on it, but it continues to light and warm the earth."

European Trip Cited

"The principal part of Mr. Mondell's tirade against the President," continued the former Speaker, "is that he went to Europe and vetoed the bill. He had as much right to go to Europe as he had to go to Baltimore, and I said that from the start."

"Mr. Campbell, of Kansas, has introduced a bill or a resolution or something of the sort that says no President can leave the country. No other President except Mr. Wilson has gone to Europe during his term of office, and maybe none will go again. The bill was not put in to be passed, but simply as an indirect assault on Woodrow Wilson, President of the United States."

There were cheers from the Democratic side during the speech and members on that side rose and shouted approval of Mr. Clark's reference to President Wilson.

"The President needs no eulogy," Mr. Clark continued. "What we are here to do today is to give all the money needed to take care of and educate the wounded soldiers. There was not enough in the other bill, and I thank God the President vetoed it."

STATE EXAMINER ASKS FOR REMOVAL OF CITY TREASURER J. F. JONES

Charges "Loose and Unsatisfactory Methods of Bookkeeping" and Files Voluminous Report

ATTACKS COMPENSATION

Following the discovery of alleged discrepancies in his accounts and alleged "loose and unsatisfactory methods of bookkeeping," City Treasurer Josiah F. Jones, was this morning recommended for removal from office by Frank B. Thomas, Columbus, State Examiner.

According to Thomas' report which was received in Lima this morning, an examination of Jones' books covering a period of more than two years, have disclosed discrepancies amounting to a total of $774.90. In this report of the examiners was included the sum of $579.23 in checks drawn upon the city treasury and made payable to Jones in addition to his fixed compensation, which Thomas charges, were converted by the treasurer for his own use.

The allegations, naturally, are denied by Mr. Jones, who says his books are now, and always have been exactly in accordance with the proper conduct of his office. He says, however, at the time the state examiner was in Lima, there were in the hands of the treasurer several funds, which had not been deposited. These, Jones says, may be responsible for the assumed shortage.

PRESIDENT INVITES G. O. P. SENATORS TO THE WHITE HOUSE

(ASSOCIATED PRESS DISPATCH)

WASHINGTON, July 16.—President Wilson has decided to invite republican senators to call at the White House to discuss the peace treaty and the league of nations, Secretary Tumulty announced today.

Senator Lodge, chairman of the foreign relations committee, was understood to be one of 15 republican senators with whom the president desired especially to confer.

It is said that the invitations would not be limited to members of the foreign relations committee. "The president was represented as being anxious to talk to all members of the senate, republicans as well as democrats, and to answer any questions they might desire to ask."

It also was indicated that as the president had placed himself at the disposal of the foreign relations committee, he would not begin his tour of the country until the committee had had a reasonable time in which to decide whether it wished to confer with him. A number of democratic senators, including Senator Pomeroy, of Ohio, a member of the committee, had appointments with the president today.

Senator Chamberlain of Oregon, former chairman of the senate military committee, whose criticisms of the war department early in the war, led to a sharp statement from President Wilson, was among those invited to the White House today and those close to the president hoped the conference would result in the re-establishment of harmonious relations between the executive and the Oregon senator.

KILLED AT CROSSING

YOUNGSTOWN, O., July 16.—Patrick Panprolli, Girard, was instantly killed and his wife fatally injured today when a New York Central freight train crashed into their automobile at a crossing just north of Youngstown. It is believed the brakes of Panprolli's automobile failed to work as he could have seen the train in time to stop his car.

Another thing, the treasurer said, when questioned relative to the allegation, on numerous occasions he has advanced city employees part of their pay. In this manner, he cites, it would be very easy for the examiner to interpret the affair as a shortage. There were also at the time of the examination, Jones said, several pay roll checks that were lost. It is Mr. Jones' opinion, however, as long as the employees received their money, it did not matter if the checks were misplaced.

In the recapitulation of the balance on hand in the various funds for the month ending March 31, 1919, $1,272.25, against the amount of $1,034.85, as counted by us April 1, 1919, or a difference of $237.40."

Thomas says, in his report, in view of this difference he could not accept Jones' report as correct, and presented himself at the treasurer's office on the morning of July 9, 1919, to the examiner.

Relative to this report, Thomas says: "It will be seen in the foregoing quoted report, that Treasurer Jones reports cash on hand, March 31, 1919, $1,272.25, against the amount of $1,034.85, as counted by us April 1, 1919, or a difference of $237.40."

ascertain why additional cash had been reported by the treasurer over the amount presented to examiner for count on April 1, 1919.

Jones, it is understood, stated the cash he reported was correct. Thomas says he once more determined to count the cash as of the close of business April 3, 1919, and this count disclosed the same discrepancy as that existing on March 31, 1919, with the exception that Jones had produced a personal check at this second counting, written on the American bank of Lima, Ohio, dated March 27, 1919, in the amount of $278.73, which if considered would have reduced the discrepancy an equal amount.

However, says Thomas, this check would not be considered as the records of the American Bank show that J. F. Jones had to his personal credit only $19.95 on the date said personal check is dated.

In his report, Thomas says, when questioned, Jones gave two conflicting reasons, neither of which appear as logical, as follows:

First: Jones stated that this check was written in part payment of a special assessment for an individual, but refused to tell the name of the said individual. Second: Jones stated that he merely had cashed the said check, from the cash in his hands as treasurer.

Peculiar Circumstances

Thomas continues in his report: "A peculiar circumstance with the check in question is the fact that it is the same form as used for pay-roll checks drawn against the funds of the city of Lima, being No. 8215, while this number in the check register is noted as being written to the trustees of the Firemen's Pension Fund in the amount of $342.89 and marked 'Void.' It would thus appear that Treasurer Jones had no intention of depositing this check or if he did intend to deposit same he meant for the amount thereof to be charged to the city and not to his personal account."

According to Thomas: "A few days later, Jones admitted a shortage in the amount of $192.75, in a memorandum which we will quote, said admission being made in the presence of both the examiner and assistant examiner." Thomas then continued with his tabulation.

Concludes Report

In closing his report, relative to the treasury of the city of Lima, Thomas says: The foregoing report contains a true statement of the facts disclosed by his audit and an investigation. It shows that J. F. Jones while serving as treasurer of City of Lima, Ohio, violated the trust imposed in him by embezzling and converting to his own use funds belonging to the said city. It shows further that J. F. Jones endeavored in every way known to himself to cover his shortage in order that same would not be discovered by your examiners both by making a false report and by stating untruths to your examiner, and it shows that F. G. Harris, cashier of the American Bank, city depository delayed this audit to the best of his ability through his defiant attitude for one of two causes, either with a desire to protect the city treasurer or because of personal dislike for your examiners.

Mr. Harris, of the American Bank when questioned regarding the "defiant attitude" taken by him toward the state examiner, denied this allegation, and stated he offered to help that officials in every way possible, but a controversy arose between them, and as a result of which he was never called before Thomas to elucidate any of the bank's reports.

In Thomas' report he alleges David L. Rupert and former Safety Director Hiner misapplied bond funds to the total of $2,009.92. Rupert, in his explanation of this says, this amount was taken from excess in the Fire Building and Equipment Fund, for the purpose of purchasing new hose. The amount Rupert says, was replaced as soon as bonds totalling the sum were sold.

According to Thomas, Rupert must also pay back $200 which he received as salary for acting as secretary to the board of sinking fund trustees, the law not permitting double salary for a city auditor in such case. Fred Turner, deputy city auditor, who succeeded Rupert as secretary of the board in December 1917, is also subject to a finding of $800, the examiner declaring that Turner was at the same time employed in another capacity by the city.

This according to Rupert, is all wrong. He says the salary paid by the sinking fund is included in the salary paid him and his deputy. For instance, he says, his salary is $1,800 per year, of this the city pays $1,500 and the sinking fund pays $300. In this manner, he cites, the sinking fund may have the services of someone thoroughly acquainted with the work at a reasonable price, where otherwise if they had to get someone outside the office he would in all probability not have the experience.

Rupert says, it is not a case of where he is receiving a salary from the sinking fund and the city, but a case of where the sinking fund and the city combined pay his or Turner's salary.

HOME SERVICE IS PREPARING LIST OF ALLEN CO. SOLDIERS

The Home Service Department of the Red Cross thru township committees appointed in each township in Allen county, is preparing a list of the names and addresses of all the boys from Allen county who were in military service, either drafted or enlisted, and in the army, navy or marines. It has been almost impossible to obtain a complete list of the boys that were in service, as the draft boards are now closed, and the records inaccessible.

The only way that this can be done thoroughly is to have a committee cover every district. The purpose of this movement is for the Home Service to ascertain whether the men have received the liberty bonds they purchased while in service, whether they have any pay as yet in arrears, to find out if their allotments have been paid and to discuss with them profitable plans for converting their insurance into different forms.

Miss Schieblich, a field supervisor has been in the city for the past week, going over the work. A meeting of the committees has been called for Thursday afternoon July 24, at the Chamber of Commerce, to make a report of their work up to that date. A big meeting has been arranged on the evening of the 24th, to be held in Delphos.

The chairmen of this work would be very glad if all returned soldiers and sailors would send in their names and addresses, to the Home Service headquarters, Chamber of Commerce building.

ENLISTMENT NOTICE

WASHINGTON, July 16.—Until June 30, 1920, enlistments in the navy may be for terms of two, three or four years and all laws now applicable for four year enlistments shall apply under such regulations as may be prescribed by the secretary of the navy to enlistments for a shorter period with the proportionate benefits upon discharge and re-enlistment. Enlistments authorized for two, three or four years at option of recruit in all ratings now open for first enlistment men, except that applicants for machinist mates school and for aviation mechanics schools will not be enlisted for shorter periods than three years. Minors under 18 may be enlisted for two or three years or period of minority at their option, with consent of parent or guardian. Men re-enlisting for two, three or four years are entitled to extra pay for citizenship, and two, three or four months honorable discharge gratuity respectively if re-enlisting after honorable discharge. Present war pay now permanent for men during current enlistment and for all men enlisting or re-enlisting prior to July 1, 1920, for the term of such enlistment or re-enlistment.

Bureau of navigation thus opens the way to its big university as a school of completion for those boys who have just left high school and other lads who are casting about for their vocation. The bureau especially bears upon the machinist mates school and aviation mechanics school, each of these schools representing an education that is as comprehensive as it is expensive—costing Uncle Sam $2,000 to put each man through. Another inducement, beyond the travel and education is the pay, which on the outside is equivalent to $125 per month to the recruit. See the navy man in regard to this or write to the navy recruiting office, Cincinnati for particulars.

"WORLD AT HOME"

DRAWS BIG CROWD, DELIGHTS PEOPLE

The chilly weather spoiled the carnival business at the United Commercial Travelers Festival last night and while the crowds were not as big as on Monday, all of the shows appeared to be doing capacity business and the various riding devices were also kept going all of the evening long.

At the Roda Royal circus there is a real hippodrome program and with the various wild west features which are interpolated the show is well worth while. Among the especially acceptable items on the World At Home Circus program is the work of Senor Oggi, in lariat spinning and lasso throwing and the graceful menage horse riding of pretty Myrtle Hinson who guides her steed through his paces in a capable and graceful manner. It is Mlle Jeannette Le Fleur who tells the big elephants what to do and when to do it and believe us—the big brutes know that the little French girl means business.

For they obey her every command to the letter and with astonishing promptitude. The big laughing bit of the circus with the World At Home shows is the mule riding by volunteer members of the audience and especially by an agile negro who appears to have a genuine sense of humor and a faculty of falling from any old distance and on any old part of his anatomy without personal injury.

Again and again he tries to stick on the contrary old mule's back and again and again he is sent hurtling through space to land now on his back and now on his ear in the farthest corner of the circus ring. The audience doesn't just alone laugh-it screams-and as we are told that: "A little nonsense now and then is healthy for the best of men" we believe that a visit to the circus and wild west now operating with the United Commercial Travelers outdoor festival at the Murphy street show grounds would be of more than little benefit to many a good soul who feels the need of a good wholesome and healthy laugh.

A Knotty Problem

THE "AVERAGE MAN," that is to say the voter who has not taken as much interest in civic affairs as he should, and gives cursory attention to the issues presented, is a little puzzled as to how to vote in August when it is to be determined whether the city of Lima shall embark in the business of producing its own electricity.

The Times is not enthusiastic over municipal ownership. It does not believe that it is cheaper to have the city own its utilities—it would greatly prefer to have private owners operate the utilities—

BUT THERE ARE ALWAYS EXCEPTIONS TO THIS RULE

The Ohio Electric has not been giving the city service. Its street car service, or rather lack of it, is a cruel joke that is keeping the city of Lima in a class with towns half the size, moreover, it is a detriment to the growth of the city. All this has been spoken of repeatedly in these columns.

The management of the Ohio Electric is at fault in the present crisis. The president of the company has been wont to consider Lima as a flag station, possibly on the D. T. & I. He doesn't know evidently, that Lima is a city past the 50,000 mark in population and is stretching itself preparatory to a jump to the 75,000, and later to the 100,000 class.

The Ohio Electric has heretofore been managed from a distance. We believe that the company now has an efficient, capable manager on the job. If Mr. Dugan had his hands untied he would probably be able to find a solution to the problem of giving service.

Lima people, 99 per cent of them, are willing to pay all good service is worth. They are not objecting, as we interpret public opinion to paying more for something worth while.

The Ohio Electric is driving the people of Lima to municipal ownership because its active head has failed to gauge the importance and possibilities of Lima.

Municipal ownership, in our opinion, is the last resort. We don't believe that it has proven satisfactory in many instances.

But Lima couldn't do worse than tie up further to the Ohio Electric as it is now organized and operated.

We would much prefer that the field for electric lighting be thrown open for competitive bids. That is, we believe there is enough money among Lima people to build and pay for a plant that would furnish electrical service at a living price. If it were owned by Lima people, the stock books thrown open to all, it would make municipal ownership unnecessary.

Municipal ownership means that every taxpayer in the city must pay his or her share of the cost.

We don't know the details, but we do know that in Dayton they have a wonderful electrical plant furnishing power and light not only to the people of Dayton but to dozens of small towns surrounding.

The company made an issue of stock when it erected the immense new power house and allowed every citizen to buy as much of the stock at a fair price as he could finance from $10 up.

The result is that there are hundreds of citizens who are interested in the success of the Dayton company. And at the same time it the company failed to give service the stockholders would be the first to be sitting at its doorstep demanding a change.

The trouble with the Ohio Electric is that it is not in sympathy with Lima needs and interests.

Lima is past the country town stage.

And even country towns get better service than Lima is getting. Therefore the citizens may take a long shot at municipal operation rather than waste any more time waiting for the Ohio Electric to wake up and take a tumble to itself.

That is about all there is to the situation as it exists today.

Owning a Home

THE MAN WHO sits down and figures cold bloodedly whether it is cheaper to own a home or to pay rent, doesn't understand what a home is. With many people it may be necessary for them to rent; circumstances may be such that it is impossible for them to own a home, although this is more seldom the case than one imagines. But where one could own a home if he desired, and where he refuses to do so because he believes he can save a few dollars by renting—well, such a person really doesn't know how to live.

There is such satisfaction in proprietorship, such joy of possession such interest in feeling that the premises are one's very own, that money ought not to figure in the process. There is something about owning a home which cannot be written down on paper—a satisfaction that pays a dividend every hour of the day.

Further, it is not just to the children to bring them up in rented houses, if it is possible to bring them up otherwise. The children may not realize it now they may be getting along all right, apparently. But they are being robbed of blessed memories, and they will not appreciate the money that is left to them in the future if it is necessary to deprive them of a home in order to accumulate it.

Real estate is still the cheapest thing we have in this country. It has not kept pace with the advance in other things. There is hardly a piece of property in this city, or in the country, for that matter that will not be worth more—much more—five years from today than it is at this time. One can hardly make a mistake in purchasing property, no matter where it is located. The security of the investment considered, the certainty of advancing prices of real estate, ought to be sufficient to induce thousands who have never thought of owning a home to make strenuous efforts to get hold of a piece of property some time in the near future.

HAPPY THOUGHT More light on the electric light question.

The reformers are announcing that they are going to stage a drive on cigars and cigarettes next and we presume the first thing they will do will be to put out a show entitled "Ten Nights in a Cigar Store."

The Supreme Court of Maine has determined that Jamaica ginger is intoxicating. That being so, we presume a big "drive" will commence in Ohio now to buy up the available supply.

The Back to the Farm movement will receive its greatest impetus about the time of cider-making this fall.

GOOD EVENING—The times are mighty prosperous but if you'll go out to McLaughlin's Lake any night you'll find a lot of bathing suits being soaked.

JUST WHEN AND HOW PURE SOAP IS A REAL BEAUTIFIER

By DR. LEONARD KEENE HIRSHBERG

A. B., M. A., M. D. (John Hopkins University)

Expert opinion is divided as to whether or not soap is to be kept at a respectable distance from the face. Soap, some day, must not be applied to the facial skin, but how that area of the skin is to be cleansed they do not always say.

Soap may be applied to the skin of the face which is subject to the injection of dirt into the pores, to becoming clogged by small particles of foreign substances, as a result of which blackheads and pimples become a second nature to it.

"Pimples come from the circulation of the blood," they tell you in words they cannot explain. True enough, pimples sometimes result from an over-abundance of foods such as sweets, starches, crackers, vegetables, pickles, fats and richly prepared meats. When this is true the rest of the structure, as a rule, suffers from impaired digestion. This may show itself in a coated tongue.

Repairing Blackhead Damages

Pimples and blackheads may also arise from dirt. The cleanest fingers themselves are dirty and generally transfer foreign particles to the skin, clog up the oil pores, which causes blackheads to form and interfere with the normal work of the perspiration and oil glands.

The blackhead soon brings on the still more unsightly pimple that shows the fats, oil and dirt have become a nesting place of the acne and staphylococcus, the abscess bacterium, which is ever present in the air, water and skin.

To squeeze a pimple or a blackhead is to make bad business worse. The dirt cannot be safely removed from the skin in this injurious way. Moreover the blood corpuscles in the region of a pimple are ready to come to the surface upon the least provocation to fight the invaders and treat breakers and thus produce greater sores and uglier blotches.

If you do housework, make fires, handle ashes, sweep or dust, keep an imaginary pair of handkerchiefs on your wrists whenever you have the tendency to draw your hands near your face.

Wash your face frequently with very cold water and toilet soap. The soap suds should be well rubbed in to the skin to act as a cleanser and stimulant.

Every now and then, as opportunity offers, you should give your face a thorough massage.

Bathe the face in lukewarm water, gradually increase the heat of the water and then apply three or four hot towels. The last few applications ought to be as hot as you can bear them. This procedure opens the pores without shocking them.

Press the cloth to the face and hold the hands in such position that the edges of the nose are not hurt. Now gently without pain squeeze out the blackheads.

The First Motion

When you have washed off the soap-suds, apply the cloth as cold as you can bear it. It is well, after that, to "iron" the face with a piece of ice. This tones up all the face muscles. When completed, massage the face with a rotary movement of the fingers dipped into good cold cream.

Although you may be an opponent or an advocate of soap upon the face, the essence of a fair face and its charm depends upon sunlight, fresh air, baths, muscular agility, sufficient sleep in a well ventilated room, good teeth, and a correct diet.

CUT IT SHORT.

"Don't be so long-winded in your reports as you have been in the past," said the manager of the "Wild West" railway to his overseer. Just report the condition of the track as you find it, and don't put in a lot of needless words that ain't to the point. Write a business letter, not a love letter."

A few days later the railway line was badly flooded and the overseer wrote his report to the manager in one line.

Short Stories of the Buckeye State

WILLIAM ALLEN

Forty years ago last Friday, William Allen, one of the most noted men Ohio has produced, died at his Chillicothe home, aged 73 years. By vote of the legislature of Ohio his statue stands in the national capital as representative of his state. Born in 1807 in Edminton, N. C., he was left an orphan in early childhood and was taken as a ward of his aunt Mrs. Thurman, mother of Allen G. Thurman, into her home at Lynchburg, Virginia.

When in 1821 the Thurmans removed to Ohio he was a student in a college in Virginia and remained there two years to finish his studies. Then he rejoined the Thurman family at Chillicothe and began the study of law. Before he was of age he had been admitted to the bar. In 1832 he was elected to congress, defeating by one vote General Duncan McArthur. The result of the election does not seem to have left any animosity toward him in the McArthur family for 13 years later he married Effie McArthur, his defeated opponent's daughter, and through her inherited the stately mansion at Chillicothe, Fruit Hill, famous as the scene of many a political council.

In 1837 he was elected to the senate and in 1843 re-elected. Then followed a long period of retirement from public life, from which he was recalled in an interesting manner. The Democrats found themselves in the early seventies carrying a heavy political burden, a legacy from the Civil War, and looking for a candidate for governor in 1873 who could give promise of success it was known that the party leaders were urging Allen to return to politics and lead them. Murat Halstead jokingly referring to him, parodied an old ditty into the familiar "Then Rise Up William Allen, and come along with me." When Allen read that in the Commercial, is determined him to be a candidate and his nomination followed. He was elected over Governor Edward P. Noyes, a soldier candidate.

Two years later, however, he was himself defeated by another soldier candidate on the Republican ticket—Rutherford B. Hayes. The next year he was a candidate for the nomination for president at the national Democratic convention, but Samuel J. Tilden was nominated. Allen never again took part in politics.

OUR BED-TIME STORY

FOR THE TIMES-DEMOCRAT FOLKS

The next day the children spent flying along the battlefield in that section of France. Captain Brave had something interesting to tell them about almost every part of the territory and of the battles that took place.

Jeannie was having the time of her life. The cosy quarters in the air plane, the chance to be with Jack and Jamp and their friends and fly over the country made her a much different girl than the sad eyed child they had found at Verdun.

After the exciting times at Verdun and Rheims the riding about in the airplane proved too tame for Booh and he looked about for something to do to create a little excitement for himself.

Riding in one of the leather seats near Captain Brave, who was guiding the plane, or sleeping in the little room in the boat of the plane, was too tame for him. He finally decided that it would be much more interesting if he found a more out of the way place to ride.

So when no one was looking he climbed out on one of the wings of the plane. I don't know yet just what was in his mind, but I think he figured on getting away out on the end and sitting down all by himself. No one discovered what he was up to until Captain Brave happened to glance around and saw the little white fuzzy dog at the end of the wing.

The plane had been riding steadily while Booh was making his trip, but now sudden gusts of wind were causing the big ship to lunge about. Even as Captain Brave looked at Booh, one of these lunges almost threw Booh off the plane. When the captain thought what would happen to Booh if he should slip or be knocked off by the wind, he decided that it was high time to bring Booh back where he belonged. He called Ladydear to steer the plane and pointed out the trouble. Just at this time the children came up the stairway from the room in the lower part of the plane, and they too saw where Booh was, and cried out in fear.

When Ladydear had climbed into the pilot seat to guide the plane, Captain Brave worked his way out to the end of the wings. Ladydear realized that Captain Brave would be killed if a sudden turn or drop of the plane caused him to lose his grip on the wires and supports, so she held the plane steady. It seemed like hours to the children before Captain Brave finally reached Booh, but it really took him only a minute or two. Captain Brave didn't lose any time talking to Booh either. He just grabbed him by the nape of the neck, like a cat carries her kittens, and lugged him back into the body of the airplane. He gave Booh a good spanking, too, and sent him down into the room below for an hour or two to teach him to be more careful.

Captain Brave stood out more than ever in the children's eyes when they realized that he had risked his life to save their pet.

Just before sundown the plane landed in a little village where the folks could get supper, and gasoline and supplies for the plane.

Captain Brave also arranged with a picture man in the village to develop the films taken at Uncle George's grave and make prints of them to be sent home to the children's parents.

That night was spent in the village while waiting for the pictures. The next morning the pictures and a big letter from each of the children and a note from Ladydear and Captain Brave were sent home to Make-Believe Town. Of course the children told mother all about Jeannie and how they hoped to find her mother and father.

DELPHOS

OF SUDDEN DEATH

DELPHOS, July 16.—After an illness of only twelve hours, Joseph Knebel answered the final summons at his home four and one-half miles west of Delphos Monday evening. His death was due to paralysis.

At about 9 o'clock Monday morning John Knebel, a brother with whom the deceased made his home, found him lying unconscious in a lane about one-quarter of a mile from the house. He had left some time before to take the cows to pasture. He was taken to the home nearby and a physician was summoned, but Mr. Knebel did not gain regaining consciousness.

The city will offer the gray team of fire horses for sale at public auction next Saturday. The selling of this team marks the end of horse-drawn fire apparatus in Delphos. Arrangements have been made to use the truck to draw all apparatus, the horses are therefore no longer needed and will be disposed of. Three sets of harness will also be offered for sale at this time.

James Reines, of the Lima Recruiting station, is in Delphos to explain matters relating to the army and to solicit recruits. He will be located at the post office where he will be glad to meet any one who is interested.

The committee in charge of the Knights of Columbus picnic is making extensive preparations for the event. The date has been definitely set for Sunday, July 27 and the picnic will be held at "Buttner's" grove on the banks of the Auglaize.

ST. MARYS

ASKS FOR DIVORCE
FROM CHILD BRIDE

ST. MARYS, July 16.—Oliver Goodwin filed suit for divorce against Kessa Goodwin. The plaintiff states that he was married to the defendant at Sidney, Ohio, on the 26th day of May, 1917, and within three weeks after his marriage, the defendant left him without cause. Plaintiff says he has just returned from France, where he served in the army and finds the defendant is confined to the girls industrial home at Delaware, Ohio, having been sent there by the juvenile court of Miami county. The plaintiff says that defendant is a minor, only 14 years of age and prays that his application is not made by her as required by law, that a guardian ad litem be appointed for her by this court. Plaintiff asks for absolute divorce.

Despite the fact that great volume of water fell during the Saturday night and Sunday morning storms, the water stage in the reservoir was not in the least affected. This is due, of course, to the fact that the extreme dryness of the ground caused it to soak in all of the water. The reservoir water stage, however, fell two inches last week. The hot winds and dry air are credited with having taken up a goodly amount of this water into the atmosphere.

Harry Burgoyne, expert cable man, of Lima, arrived in St. Marys Tuesday for the purpose of assisting in locating and repairing some serious cable trouble which has been at fault for telephones on the entire east side of town being out of commission.

In addition to local trouble, twelve of the country lines are dead, long distance Bell lines are out, New Bremen, New Knoxville toll lines in addition to connecting toll lines running out of other cities.

NOT IN A DRUG STORE.

If people always knew beforehand just what the doctor's prescription would be most of the time it would be quite necessary to consult a doctor, observes the Philadelphia Public Ledger.

A patient with a vague and indeterminate complaint sought out the late Dr. S. Weir Mitchell and elaborately described what she thought were the symptoms of imminent collapse. The famous physician heard her out with courteous gravity, wrote a line or two on a bit of paper and then said:

"Take this to the drug store across the street and they will fill it for you."

When the ailing hypochondriac showed the paper to the apothecary, he smiled and handed it back. "I'm afraid you'll have to fill this out yourself, madam," he said, deferentially.

"What do you mean?" Then she read what was written. It was simply the Bible verse: "Greater is he that ruleth himself than he that taketh a city."

AUTO THIEF FOUND
HIDING UNDER BED

VAN WERT, July 16.—George Anderson, wanted by officers for the theft of an automobile Saturday night from where it was parked on Jefferson street, was arrested at Mendon by Deputy Sheriff Terry. When found Anderson was hiding underneath a bed in the home of his uncle, Charles Anderson.

Anderson was traced from Van Wert to St. Marys by the officers and was nearly caught there Sunday. The marshal at St. Marys had discovered his whereabouts at the home of a relative and went there to place him under arrest. Anderson, however, saw the marshal approaching and made his getaway. He was discovered near Mendon and brought to Van Wert where he was placed in the county jail awaiting further prosecution.

Anderson was quizzed by prosecutor Walters last evening and admitted taking the car. He probably will be arraigned in a few days.

A. C. Gilpin, of Van Wert, was unanimously chosen by the state M. B. A. convention which met in Van Wert Tuesday to represent the Ohio part of the lodge at the national convention to be held in Detroit August 19.

About thirty delegates were in attendance at the meeting. The only business of importance transacted was the selection of the state delegate to the national convention. Mr. Gilpin's choice in this matter is an honor to him and to the city.

Here's a Tip For Shoppers; You
Get The Service You Deserve

It was a hot day. Handling heavy suits was not pleasurable, even tho the striped awnings kept out the sun, and the suit and coat department of the big Lima department store was as cool looking as artistic ingenuity could make.

Nevertheless the fat woman had asked to be shown suit after suit. She was going away on a trip. She was hot and the perspiration stood in beads on her red face, and she was not in smooth temper.

"What messy looking suits," she declared to her daughter, a haughty looking young lady of 15 or so.

"They are the advance fall styles," said the clerk patiently. "There is nothing here that is my type at all. Really I think it is too bad that Lima can't get any handsome things. I should have decided to wait till I got to New York in the first place. Haven't you anything more?"

"Nothing, at all," said the clerk with an edge on her voice.

"Such indifference," murmured the haughty daughter quite audibly as they moved away.

Yet a few minutes later, when a sweet faced matron entered, the girl rose immediately and went forward eagerly to meet her.

"How do you do, Mrs. F—," she said.

"You came in to see the little suit for your daughter that I called you about?" she asked. "I've laid it away for her. It's just the sort of thing you said you wanted, and it is quite a bargain too. I told of you immediately and telephoned you."

"It was very kind of you, my dear, and I surely appreciate your thoughtfulness," said the elder woman.

"It is very hard to get things for girls at her age. Yes that will be very pretty for Mary. You may send it out. If so likes it, we will keep it. If not—I can send it back I suppose?"

"Of course, Mrs. F—. Send it back in my name, and I will see that it is credited."

The difference in these two customers marked the difference in the service.

It probably never occurs to most women that they receive exactly the sort of service they deserve.

The clerk likes to wait on the gracious woman, whether she buys little or much, or nothing at all. She is eager to please this woman who is polite and kind to her. She will call her up when there are sales of interest.

But to the insolent shopper, and the haughty old "dowager" she vouchsafes unwilling service. It must be polite, for the shop girl may not answer back. But it will not be eager and interested.

It is usually the newly rich woman who is unkind, exacting and ungrateful to the shop girl. It is she who pretends that the little shop girl is a mere automaton, put there to her service, and who treats her as she were a measuring stick or a penny slot machine.

And the newly rich suffers the results. She receives grudging attention at the hands of the clerk.

The clerk likes a smile and a word of appreciation.

Who was it that said something about "In what measure you mete?" Pretty good old rule.

Charles Murray, the famous Paramount-Mack Sennett comedian, has an unctuous role in this picture story, and the cast is one of the best ever assembled.

The story is one of a young love in a setting of the country town variety. It tells of the tragedies of youth and unrequited affection. It depicts the awful consequences of hearts that are shattered by the cruelties of sweet sixteen. And, withal, it is really charming, whimsical, redolent of the springtime fancies of those who are on the sunny side of sixteen.

The Pathe News is also on the bill, along with Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Drew who are seen in a delightfully humorous comedy, "Squared." Last times tonight.

AT THE LYRIC.

"One Week of Life," Pauline Frederick's new Goldwyn picture, comes to the Lyric Thursday and tells an interesting story, as might be expected from so able a playwright as Casino Hamilton.

Miss Frederick plays the role of Mrs. Kingsley Sherwood, bored alike with her society life and her hypochondriac husband. As usual, there is another man. The woman frankly voices her desire to steal away and spend a week of life with the man she loves, but conventions will not allow it. At this point, the man (Sydney Ainsworth) meets a charming girl of highest principles, Marion Roche (Miss Frederick).

What happens to this curious quartet promises to make screen history.

ENTERTAINS SOCIETIES

The Ebwa Haktangs of Trinity Church entertained on Tuesday evening with a party in the church for the pleasure of the Grace Davis and the Harriet Howey societies. As first planned there was to be a picnic at the City Park, but due to the rain, the affair had to be inside.

The auditorium of the church was immediately prepared and gotten in readiness, and after disposing of the delicious picnic supper, which was served at long tables in the basement, there was a splendid program given, including several reports from the Centenary.

Miss Ruth Helms gave two interesting and inspiring talks on the Centenary, she was garbed in Indian native costume, and was especially fitted to discuss certain conditions existing in that country, since she served as a stewardess in the Indian Booth at Columbus. Her other talk was highly educational concerning Foreign Missionary work.

Miss Helen Houston gave a very good report from the Centenary, hers being more along general lines.

Mrs. D. F. Helms, was responsible for the good time which all enjoyed.

There were twenty-one present, who indulged in games and other pastimes, following the business meeting. Light refreshments were served.

FAREWELL LUNCHEON

Mrs. Laura Morris, who has been visiting her daughter, Mrs. R. A. Clapper of Rice Avenue, has been much feted during her stay here, and on Tuesday was given a final farewell party, when Mrs. W. R. Umbaugh, had a few friends in to luncheon, at the Norval Hotel. The private dining room was made gracefully attractive with tall vases of red roses. Red candles in crystal holders were at the four corners of the table.

Mrs. Morris left on Tuesday evening for New York and Atlantic City. Covers were laid at the luncheon for the honor guest, Mrs. Morris, Mrs. W. E. Beall, Mrs. R. A. Clapper and the hostess, Mrs. Umbaugh.

KONETA CIRCLE

The members of the Koneta Circle entertained their husbands with a picnic at McCullough's park on Tuesday evening. It was a very enjoyable evening, and the time following the serving of the delicious supper was spent in dancing, boating, and other forms of amusement.

AID SOCIETY

Despite the heavy rainfall of Tuesday afternoon, there was a splendid attendance at the meeting of the Ladies' Aid society of Trinity church, held in the church parlors. The meeting did not begin until 7 o'clock and was opened with the singing of "Blest be the Ties That Bind," followed by devotion by Mrs. Kalo. Mrs. Ralph Austin sang two pretty numbers, "In the Time of Roses" and "Little Grey Dove." She was accompanied by Miss Katharine Gramm.

There was a business meeting and one hundred dollars was pledged to go for equipment of the gymnasium of the Y. W. C. A.

There will be no August meeting, but in September when they are again resumed there will be election of officers. The nominating committee was appointed on Tuesday and includes Mrs. Tom Quate, Mrs. J. D. S. Naelev and Mrs. L. E. Justus.

The social hour and tea concluded the afternoon.

Laird Garrelson, and Norman Lincoln, of Detroit, Michigan, will arrive Thursday to be the guests of I. W. Parmenter, of West Spring street, for several days.

A Chance to Live

(By Zoe Beckley)

BEARING THE LION

And so it came about that Margaret Bailey did a thing she had never done before. She went to her boss at the office and talked with compelling firmness.

"You MUST find a place for my niece, Mr. Simms. It's life and death with us. She's nearly eighteen, an intelligent, ambitious girl. She had almost finished her course at the stenographic school when the Circle Waist Company fire—Ah, you know about it! Well, Annie's been upset since. But she's all right now—that is, she will be if she can get work. Make a place for her here. I'll help her with her shorthand speed."

Simms was a humane and reasonable man. He was kind to his wife and children. He subscribed to charities. But he was a business man. His line was druggists supplies, not philanthropy. Other manufacturers were cutting prices. Simms had to. In order to make his business "pay," he hired help at the lowest possible wage. Competition to Simms was "the life of trade." He never saw it as the death of those who made it possible to maintain his trade. He looked shrewdly at Miss Bailey.

"We could use a smart girl to work the switchboard, copy letters and make herself generally useful," he said. "But if she's had no experience in office work and can't take fast dictation we couldn't give above six dollars to start."

Six dollars! Margaret Bailey stared back at Mr. Simms, not knowing that she looked at him. She was thinking how Annie could keep up

Condensed Classic Series*The Lima Times' Fascinating Fiction FeatureTODAY—"The Strange Case of Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde," by Robert Louis Stevenson.*THURSDAY—"The Sea Wolf," by Jack London.*STEVENSON

Robert Louis Stevenson was born of cultured parents, Nov. 13, 1850, in Edinburgh. From infancy his health was delicate. His schooling was therefore desultory, but he early adored the tales and poems read to him by his devoted nurse, Alison Cunningham, and so began the passion for literature which dominated his life. His father, Thomas Stevenson, an able civil engineer, desired Louis to follow his profession, but after more than three years' study he abandoned it. He next read law to please his father, but he genuinely cared only for writing.

Perhaps no figure in literature is more loved for sheer valiance of spirit than Robert Louis Stevenson. He contended all his life against disease with high courage and dauntless gaiety. In France and California, in the Adirondacks and the South Sea Islands, he pursued the will of the wisp, health, which always eluded him. From 1880 to his death in 1884, his wife was a source of strength and inspiration; yet exiled from friends he suffered physical pain and weary disappointment. Much of his best work was written in bed. Nevertheless in 17 years he produced four volumes of essays, seven collections of fantastic tales, two of South Sea yarns, three of poetry, five volumes of travel and topography, one of political history, and left material for several posthumous works.

"Treasure Island" is perhaps the best loved of his romances. Stevenson said: "If this don't fetch the kids, why, they have gone rotten since my time." And again, as he wrote it: "It's awful fun, boys' stories; you just indulge the pleasure of your heart, that's all."

The Strange Case of Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde

By ROBERT LOUIS STEVENSON

Condensation by Irving Bacheller

Mr. Utterson was a lawyer, who believed in letting people go to the devil in their own way. He and Richard Enfield, a man about town, who was at once his distant kinsman and his friend, often walked about the London streets together. One day they came upon a sinister, windowless, two-story building in a by-way.

Enfield told of seeing a man in this street run into a little girl, knock her down and walk over her body. "It sounds nothing to hear, but it was hellish to see," he said. "I colored the man and held him, and 'tho' he made no resistance he gave me a look so ugly that it set me in a sweat. He offered to pay damages and came to this house to get the money. He gave me 10 pounds in gold and a check signed by a man I knew. A forgery? Not a bit of it—perfectly good!"

Mr. Utterson asked the name of the man. Enfield with some hesitation said: "His name is Hyde."

"You see I don't ask you the name of the man who signed the check, for I know it already," said Utterson.

That night the latter opened his safe and took from it a will which he re-examined with care. It provided that in case of the death of Henry Jekyll all his possessions were to pass to Edward Hyde, and in case of the disappearance, or unexplained absence for three months of said Jekyll, Edward Hyde should step into Jekyll's shoes without delay. As he studied it the lawyer said: "I thought it madness, now I begin to fear it is disgrace."

He decided to talk with Dr. Lanyon, a great physician and an old friend of Jekyll.

"I see very little of Henry now," said Lanyon. "He began to go wrong some 10 years ago. He became too fanciful for me."

Lanyon had never heard of Hyde. From that time forward Utterson began to haunt that sinister doorway into which Hyde had disappeared. He determined to discover its owner. At last one night a small, plainly dressed man approached and drew a key from his pocket. His look suggested deformity but did not show it. Utterson accosted him and said: "Now I shall know you again. It may be useful."

Hyde gave his address in Soho, admitted knowing Jekyll, and disappeared within. Utterson turned away convinced that this loathsome little man had some dark hold upon Dr. Jekyll. In sorrow and pity he went to call upon Jekyll who lived just around the corner. He was away.

To the butler Utterson said: "I saw Mr. Hyde go in by the old dissecting room door, Poole, is that right when Dr. Jekyll is away?"

"Quite right, sir. Mr. Hyde has a key."

Utterson went home with a feeling that some danger menaced his friend Jekyll.

A year later London was startled by a singularly inhuman murder case. A housemaid, looking from a window, saw a man who resembled Mr. Hyde strike down her master, a venerable, white-haired man, and trampled his body under foot in a hellish fury. The old man was Sir Danvers Carew.

The case came to Utterson who alone recognized the weapon which the assassin had dropped. It was a cane which he had himself presented to Henry Jekyll. It was another

CARTER & CARROLL

Utterson turned and looked at his companion Enfield. Both were pale, there was an answering horror in their eyes.

One night Poole suddenly appeared at Utterson's house. He came to say that for a week his master had been shut up in his cabinet and that he was alarmed. "I can't bear it any longer," he said.

He could not explain his fears but begged the lawyer to go back with him. His face was white and his voice broken.

Utterson found the entire household in Jekyll's house in a state of panic. All the maids were huddled together like scared sheep.

"They're all afraid," said Poole. "Follow me," he added; "I want you to hear, and I want you to be heard—but don't go in, sir."

They knocked on Jekyll's door but a voice said: "I cannot see anyone."

When they returned to the kitchen Poole asked: "Was that my master's voice?" Utterson admitted it was changed. Poole then opened his door. "I believe my master has been made away with," he said.

Poole thought it strange that the murderer stayed. He said that the man in the cabinet room had been crying out night and day for help, and had thrown out papers on which were written orders for certain drugs.

Utterson examined some of these papers which were agonized pleas for a special kind of salt which he had used and wanted again. They were all in Jekyll's hand as Poole admitted. He also explained that once he had caught sight of the man inside. "The hair stood up at sight of him. If that was my master why had he a mask on his face?"

Poole said: "That thing was not my master. My master was a tall fine man—this is a kind of dwarf."

They decided to break down the door.

Poole said: "One I heard it weeping." This added to the error and mystery.

They stood before the door and Utterson demanded entrance. A voice from within cried: "For God's sake have mercy."

Hyde's," shouted Utterson, and swung his axe against the door.

Shattering the lock they rushed in. On the floor lay the form of a man contorted and twitching. They drew near and turned the body on its back. It was Edward Hyde, and by his side was an empty vial. He was dead.

Jekyll was not to be found, but the dead Hyde was dressed in what seemed to be a suit of Jekyll's clothes much too large for him.

On the table was a confession addressed to Utterson, and a will drawn in his favor. Lanyon's letter explained the mystery. Hyde had come one night to his office very ill and asked for some powders which Jekyll had left with Lanyon to be given to Hyde when he should call for them. Hyde, a small man, with clothes grotesquely large, eagerly seized the powder and mixed a liquid which had quickly turned from purple to green.

The man drank. He reeled. He staggered. He clutched the table. He seemed to swell. His features changed, and there before Lanyon's eyes, pale and fainting, groping before him with his hands, like a man restored to life stood Henry Jekyll.

Hyde and Jekyll were inhabitants of the same body! By the use of a drug he had been able to change from one personality to the other. Hyde was wholly evil. Jekyll, the amiable, respected professor, had but to drink that powerful drug to become the revolting Hyde.

Pecord's Squawk Shows Lack Of Self Respect

REFEREE OF BIG BATTLE TELLS ALL

Admits He Agreed to Leave
Decision to Judges In Case Battle Goes Limit

Ohio Pecord, who attempted to referee the Willard-Dempsey battle at Toledo on July Fourth, has joined the ever increasing and despicable brigade of free, cheap publicity seekers, says an eastern sport writer.

Pecord comes forth with a belated tinhorn squawk to the effect that Willard would not enter the ring, unless he (Pecord) consented to sign an agreement to leave the decision entirely in the hands of the two judges, provided the bout went the limit, twelve rounds.

Willard and Dempsey, so far as the dear old public knew, agreed to fight twelve rounds, with an official decision at the finish, this verdict to be given by two judges and the referee.

In amateur boxing bouts two judges act in harmony with the referee. The judges give their decision. If they fail to agree, the referee has the power to cast the deciding vote. This arrangement was supposed to prevail at the Toledo battle.

If this arrangement was not to prevail, and the public was not so informed, then it was Pecord's duty to declare himself before the fight and put the public wise. The proper time for Pecord to have squealed was before, not after the fight, if he had the facts as he alleges.

I wonder if Pecord realizes that on his own statement he brands himself as a gentleman possessed of little self respect?

Pecord admits he agreed to deceive the public by secretly agreeing not to participate in the final verdict.

Pecord's admits that for the few dollars he received for refereeing, and the notoriety linked with the job, he didn't have the manhood to refuse to agree to Willard's demands, if Willard made any such demands as Pecord alleges.

If Willard made the demand Pecord alleges and Pecord was honest and fearless, as referees should be, especially in a match of this importance, Pecord should have bluntly refused to acquiesce.

I imagine a man's pride would prompt him to give Willard a smash on the jaw or call a policeman, if Willard made such an insulting proposition. If Pecord's claim is true, Pecord evidently failed to appreciate that Willard, in making his demand, told Pecord he didn't trust him and didn't regard him as competent to referee. Otherwise why should Willard not want Pecord to participate in the final verdict?

How any man could step into a ring with that feeling in his soul is puzzling to say the least.

Pecord's self respect must be about the size of a needle's eye.

I have no love for Willard. He smeared with black dogs the sport that gave him riches. For that reason, and no other reason, I have nothing but contempt for Willard.

But I don't believe Willard made the demand Pecord claims, because Willard was the essence of confidence and so positive of victory that I don't believe he cared a rap whether Pecord, the judges or three fools gave the decision.

Willard didn't think he could lose. He figured Dempsey a play toy, to be knocked out when the boys had had a run for their coin.

I believe that if Willard even suspected there was the slightest chance of his losing he could not have been dragged east of the Rockies, not to mention Toledo.

As a referee Pecord was a pitiful object. Instead of trying to break into the limelight he should hide himself. If Pecord's charge were true, it seems ridiculous that he should come out and brand himself a party to a crooked deal. What is there to gain? Cheap publicity, that's all.

About the only grain of good judgment Pecord displayed thus far in his time he picked for his squawk. He waited until Willard had left Toledo and well on his way to Kansas before making the charge.

Pecord's squawk is out of order.

And on the heels of Pecord's squawk comes another spoon to stir the Toledo muddle.

W. Warren Barbour, engaged for the purpose of keeping time, claims he pulled the gong for the beginning of the fourth round. Barbour, from my observations, had no idea of how time should be kept. But he was as good a timekeeper as Pecord was a referee. Giddap.

If Barbour pulled the gong for the beginning of the fourth round before Willard's seconds threw in the towel, then Willard lost in the fourth and not the third round, as Pecord claims.

The fight proper was supposed to be under the sole jurisdiction of the

JACK DEMPSEY MAY JOIN ZIEGFELD ATHLETIC SHOW

Kearns Says Champ Will Do Three Rounds at Each Performance, and Will Be Surrounded By Dancing Girls.

CHICAGO, July 16—Jack Dempsey, heavyweight champion, may soon shine in the constellation conducted by Flo Ziegfeld.

Jack Kearns, Dempsey's manager, says he is considering an offer from Ziegfeld to feature the champion in a traveling athletic tournament. Dempsey is to do three rounds at each performance, supported by singing and dancing girls and athletes of prominence.

Both Kearns and Dempsey said that Willard was technically knocked out in the third round and not in the fourth as many experts claim. Kearns also said that Ollie Pecord, referee, and "those society men acting as timers and judges got buck

"Army, Navy and Civilian Board of Boxing Control." This is the outfit that aims to control boxing, not only in New York state, but throughout the country. From stem to stern it's a joke. Before attempting to control boxing this self-appointed would-be board of control should practice self-control. As a controlling factor, this board of control was a horrible flivver at Toledo.

As the fight rolls along the corridors of history, bigger and bigger looms Jack Dempsey. As I mentioned the day after the fight, Dempsey had to lick Willard, the referee, two judges, the timekeeper and about fifty spectators. He's a clean, honest, fearless fighting man, with not a wrong thought in his noble head. It's a lucky thing for boxing that Jack Dempsey was fighting Willard on July Fourth.

WAS SIMPLY A FIGUREHEAD

His own confession shows Pecord was simply a figurehead at the big battle in Toledo, July 4. Pecord says he agreed to leave decision to judges in case the battle went "his limit." East sport writers of note are now riding Pecord for his actions.

Doctor Says Jess Willard Is in Good Condition, But -

Professor Jim Byrne, official physician of the Toledo Athletic club, gave Jess Willard, loser of the championship, an exhaustive examination and later told what he found was wrong with the big fellow.

Briefly, the Byrne statement amounts to about this: "Willard's jaw was dislocated and is giving him a great deal of pain. His frontal bone on the right side of his face was shattered, and from what I saw it seems to me that an operation will be necessary before he gets the right sort of relief. The ex-champion has other injuries and lacerations, but none of them are of a serious character. His floating ribs are unsmashed and decidedly painful, and it will take some time for them to get back to normal."

"All told, I should say that it will be at least six weeks before Willard is back to normal condition and able to move about comfortably," said Byrne. "He got a tremendous beating and, due possibly to his rather soft condition, was an easy victim to the heavy punches of Dempsey."

Paper Mills Purse is Today's Feature

KALAMAZOO, Mich., July 16—The Paper Mills purse of $3,000 for 2:06 trotters was the feature of today's Grand Circuit card. Four of the possible starters—Heir Reeper, C. C. Peter June and June Red were entered by the veteran E. F. Geers and Thomas W. Murphy who yesterday captured two of the opening days events, entered Royal Mack and Wilkes Brewer.

Other races on today's program are the Celery City sweepstakes for three year old trotters, the Park American Hotel free-for-all pace sweepstakes and the 2:11 trot at a mile for a purse of $1,000.

Good time was registered in the opening races, the track being in excellent condition as a result of a heavy rain following a three weeks' drought.

UMPIRE PROBLEM CRITICAL

Is In Worst Condition Now
Than When Lynch was President

The umpire situation in the National league has become even more critical than it was at the time when Tom Lynch was made president of the recent baseball organization for the ostensible purpose of straightening out the complicated condition that then existed, says Sam Crane.

Lynch, during his term as head of the league had such umpires on his list as "Big Bill" Brennan and "Buck Owens, both as good officials as ever handled an indicator, but they are now out of the National league apparently under that league's ban.

Owens is now with the American league and probably would not return to the National were he given the opportunity.

Brennan is umpiring in the Southern Association and is considered by competent judges to be in the Bill Klem class, than which there is none better. Brennan made himself very prominent in promoting the Federal league and was appointed umpire-in-chief of that short-lived organization. That was more because he was tipped off that he had no chance to be reappointed by President Lynch than for any particular or special predilection toward the Feds. He thought only of saving himself and getting a position he was suited for.

PLAYERS TAKEN BACK
Federal league high officials and players were virtually taken back into organized baseball when peace was declared, although for strictly business reasons. Why then should not Brennan be given the privilege of being reappointed as an umpire in the major league? It is unfair and unjust that he is not, for he is competent to fill the position and is being kept out, as the writer understands it, on account of the decision he had the gameness to make in Philadelphia, when he forfeited a game to the Giants.

It is somewhat peculiar that the prejudice of one club can keep one of the best umpires in the business out of an appointment when at least four incompetents are causing the National league no end of trouble; in fact, are making the league a laughing stock with the baseball public and players who are forced to suffer from their decisions.

Baseball players, if they are found incapable are "fired", and with little mercy. Why should incapable umpires be used with any more consideration and continued in service year after year, when they have proved their incompetency to the woeful detriment of the sport?

UMPIRES ALWAYS UPHOLD
There must be an unwritten law among the presidents of the different baseball leagues to protect their umpires under any and all circumstances. These officials are invariably wrong according to the president's ethics.

There are now umpires in the National league, who were not competent when they started to officiate and have shown no improvement since, still they have been kept in their important positions year after year.

It is really scandalous that such a condition has been allowed to exist during all these years, for it has been due to an altogether false idea of sportsmanlike protection. The time is ripe for a change and it should not be delayed.

There Was a Reason

The leading reason that the Cubs won the National league pennant last year was the ease with which they beat the Giants, the second-place team. The Cubs in 1918 defeating the Giants in 14 out of 20 games.

This year McGraw's team is getting back with a vengeance. Seven games have been played between the two teams and the Giants have taken the entire seven.

In a letter just received Nate Lewis, who is in England with his little fighter, Pal Moore, of Memphis, declares that the Jimmy Wilde-Pal Moore fight on July 17 has aroused so much interest that it is expected to attract a record crowd of fight fans. Lewis further states that Wilde is a big favorite over Moore, but that he is confident Pal will get the decision.

Club Has No Idea of Obtaining Franchise in Proposed Ball Club

"It's a wild dream some sport writers have," said an official of the Lima Athletic club, when questioned today relative to the report that the club will endeavor to get a franchise in a proposed league to be started in this state next season. The club, according to H. E. Simonton, secretary of the organization, has never had any idea of organizing a baseball team in this city.

The Lima baseball club has absolutely nothing to do with the Lima Athletic club. This announcement was made today by Bernard Holloran, manager of the Independents. The only connection is the fact that Holloran has upon one occasion let the athletic club use the Murphy street ball park for an exhibition.

Paper Mills Purse is Today's Feature

KALAMAZOO, Mich., July 16—The Paper Mills purse of $3,000 for 2:06 trotters was the feature of today's Grand Circuit card. Four of the possible starters—Heir Reeper, C. C. Peter June and June Red were entered by the veteran E. F. Geers and Thomas W. Murphy who yesterday captured two of the opening days events, entered Royal Mack and Wilkes Brewer.

Other races on today's program are the Celery City sweepstakes for three year old trotters, the Park American Hotel free-for-all pace sweepstakes and the 2:11 trot at a mile for a purse of $1,000.

Good time was registered in the opening races, the track being in excellent condition as a result of a heavy rain following a three weeks' drought.

LARGE BRICK FACTORY LOCATES IN LIMA

TRACT OF GROUND JUST NORTH OF THE CITY IS PURCHASED

Fourteen Acres of Ground Opposite State Hospital is Taken Over

TO BE IMMENSE PLANT

Price Paid for Land Said to Be Highest Ever Paid in Bath Township

Lima is to have one of the largest brick-making plants in the state of Ohio as the result of the purchase of a plot of ground north of the city by Theodore Edstrom, of Chicago, who represents a large syndicate formed to back the enterprise.

The ground purchased consists of 13 acres and lies west of the Lima State hospital grounds, and is reached from the West street road through what is known as the Lincoln way, named after the Lincoln highway.

The tract is a part of Aviation Heights, where the ill-fated Shaffor aviation school was conducted a few years ago, which was discontinued after Andy Drew, popular young aviator, met his death when his airplane burned in the air.

Burkhardt Sells It

The tract of land was owned by F. A. Burkhardt and C. W. Burkhardt, brothers, who signed the papers completing the deal Tuesday. The Burkhardt brothers donated the use of the land for the aviation school.

Mr. Edstrom, after tests by experts, found that there is 14 feet of good clay underneath the surface, which determined his decision to locate the clay products plant here.

Lima was chosen for the new plant not only because of the available and necessary clay, but because of unexcelled shipping facilities. The site is accessible to both the Ohio Electric and B. & O. lines.

Much Demand

Owing to the huge building program being carried on over the country there is an immense demand for brick and all kinds of clay products. The new plant will therefore be constructed as rapidly as possible and when completed will be one of the largest industries of its kind in the entire state.

Sets High Price

The consideration for the land is said to be the highest ever given for bath township land, but was not made public. The Elmer D. Webb company conducted the negotiations.

TRUCK TRAIN NOT TO PASS THRU LIMA

The immense army truck train, the largest ever formed in the United States and originally scheduled to pass thru Lima on its transcontinental trip Thursday, July 17, will not now pass thru the city, since Lima has been taken off the Lincoln highway. Instead it will pass thru Van Wert, Defoli, and up thru Gomer, West, Cairo, and other villages, making a detour of about 11 miles, and entailing Lima off entirely.

The truck train is following the Lincoln highway from coast to coast, and is routed on a regular schedule. The Garford motor truck company had several of their men in Washington to arrange for the train to pass thru Lima and make a short stop here, but since the city has been removed from the Lincoln highway, it is highly improbable that the train will go thru Lima.

U. S. Steamer is Towed to Port

WASHINGTON, July 16.—The American cargo steamer Allison picked up in a sinking condition off Fenwick Island lightship Maryland today by the steamer Lakeview, was towed safely to Delaware breakwater, where she is now anchored, the navy department was advised by radio.

CARLISLE, Pa., July 16.—Twelve persons were killed in the explosion on board the British tank steamer Rose Leaf here yesterday. The explosion was caused by an accumulation of gas. The ship was undergoing repairs here at the time of the accident.

U. S. BEGINS QUIZ OF $100,000,000 FOOD MONOPOLY

Clyne Starts Drive on the Combine Fixing Prices of Canned Goods

CHICAGO, July 16.—Every agency of the department of justice has been assigned by United States District Attorney Charles F. Clyne to the investigation of a "$100,000,000 food combine."

The existence of a gigantic trust of producers, canners, and distributors has been alleged in charges from various sources lodged with the district attorney sufficiently convincing to warrant the calling of the federal trade commission from Washington to Chicago next week. Evidence gathered by the commission and the United States attorney will be placed before a federal grand jury and indictments asked.

Canned Foods "Cornered"

Peas, beans, tomatoes, asparagus, and all other canned foodstuffs, including other vegetables and fruits, meats and milk, are controlled by the combination of production, capital, and distribution. It is declared, and notices have been sent out of a 75 per cent increase on future deliveries. Threats of other advances to follow prompted the district attorney to a concerted drive by the government forces at his command.

The former's produce purchased outright on anticipation and the canneries financed, the distributors are in control of the market, the United States has been informed, indicating that two or three manipulators are now able to dictate the supply and the price.

Cantaloupe "Trust" Revived

The western cantaloupe exchange of Los Angeles, a "trust" to control the cantaloupe market of the country, was ordered dissolved and members restrained from further restricting trade under the injunction issued November 9, 1918, by Federal Judge George A. Carpenter, but it was indicated by the district attorney that the high price of cantaloupes at present would renew the investigation in that product along with the big profiteering inquiry.

The action in the cantaloupe trust "busting" was originally brought by the interstate commerce commission, which charged the cantaloupe shippers entered an agreement in 1913 at a meeting in Chicago which was in violation of the Sherman anti-trust act.

Supply Regulated

Through the agreement, it was alleged shipments to various markets were being fixed and prices thereby controlled. The shippers contended cantaloupes are a perishable product and that shippers were justified taking every possible step to prevent received complaints of the high price of cantaloupes. Violation of the injunction issued by Judge Carpenter would mean contempt of court and jail for the violators.

HAMILTON, O., July 16.—The entire plant of the Hamilton Otto Coke Company north of this city was ordered sold at public auction at a meeting of creditors in the office of Referee in Bankruptcy H. Haines. The sale will take place September 17, at 2 p. m.

Liabilities are approximately $400,000 and assets are listed at $700,000 chief of which is the plant. Personal property is listed at $104,483.26.

The plant is one of the largest coke industries in Ohio. Higher production costs compared with western Pennsylvania coke plants is considered the chief reason for its financial difficulties.

LIGHTNING SENDS BRITISH AIRSHIP, AFLAME, INTO SEA

LONDON, July 16.—The British airship NS-11, which left Pulham on a forty-eight hour flight, is believed to have been struck by lightning and the crew of twelve lost.

The NS-11 was engaged in mine sweeping operations.

One eyewitness who had been watching the airship said he heard an explosion and then saw the dirigible suddenly make a plunge and come down in flames.

"Just before it touched the sea there was a second explosion and flaming pieces burst from it. With my glasses I seemed able to see something black drop out of the ship. It was almost like a parachute.

"It was 1:15 when I heard the first report and a thunder storm burst directly afterward. Rain came down in torrents, but the airship continued to blaze for some time."

It is believed the vessel was struck by lightning which caused the gas in her envelope to explode. This would account for the huge flare.

The NS-11 was one of the non-rigid types used during the war for spotting the enemy submarine and mines. In February and March she accomplished some remarkable long distance flights.

On one occasion the airship made a voyage of more than 1,000 miles over the North Sea, touching Denmark, Heligoland and Holland, and thus established a world's record for non-rigid airships. She was in the air for forty and one-half hours.

U. S. Railways Hauled Four Million Troops

WASHINGTON, July 16.—The railroads of the United States hauled 4,276,919 troops on special and regular trains for an average of 660 miles each in the first six months of 1919, according to statistics made public today by Director General Lines. In addition, probably two million officers and men made railway trips while on furlough and another million were transported from camps to their homes after discharge making a total of 7,250,000 military passenger accommodations in addition to the usual civilian travel. The military traffic in six months required nine million train miles and as much of the equipment had to be sent empty in one direction, this figure should be doubled to express the aggregate transportation demand by the military forces.

"This extraordinary demand explains," the railroad administration's statement said, "why it has not been able to meet all of the requests for excursion trains and why in some cases the cars on regular passenger trains have been crowded."

Employer Dying, Woman Hangs Self

DAYTON, July 16.—Grieving over the approaching death of her employer, Miss Emma Henderson, 68 years old, hanged herself from a rafter in the basement of a house at 233 Linden avenue. Her body was found today by a gasmeter reader. Miss Henderson was missed yesterday, and a search had been instituted for her. Mrs. J. M. Brussman, her employer, is living at the point of death, and it is believed that the servant, who had been employed in the house twenty years, became grief stricken. Pinned to her dress was a note stating that she feared she would lose her mind, that she could not endure this life, and requested that her brother, W. F. Henderson, 209 South Montgomery street, be notified.

COX MAY ACT TO AID REFORMATORY

Governor, However, Says Assembly Must Replenish Emergency Funds

COLUMBUS, Ohio, July 16.—Financial relief for the Ohio reformatory at Mansfield, to save to the state the value of the work accomplished in the past score of years, in which the reformatory has attained international eminence as a model among institutions of its kind, will be given thorough consideration at the capitol and probably will be granted.

"The situation is such in my judgment that something probably will have to be done."

This was the statement this afternoon of Gov. Cox who on his return to the state house took under advisement the question of the crisis at the reformatory as well as financial problems confronting other state departments.

The governor added that if help for Mansfield should be developed through the emergency board, composed of the governor, state auditor, attorney general, and house and senate finance chairmen, it would probably result in a necessary for the general assembly in the winter to replenish the emergency funds of which the board has control.

In an analysis, published in The Plain Dealer last week, the superintendent declared the institution is threatened with the possibility of slipping from its high place among establishments for the reforming of young men and boy violators, unless its payroll allotment is augmented.

The superintendent explained that his payroll this year is $10,000 less than it was last, and that since April one-third of his administrative force has left, attracted by higher pay elsewhere. He fears a disintegration of the institution's organization which the late Dr. J. A. Leonard spent years in building up.

Gov. Cox is in entire sympathy with the needs of the institution and has been watching developments at Mansfield. With other state officials the governor is confronted with the needs not only of Mansfield, but of other departments and institutions.

Dissatisfaction with the present standard of pay in state service is spreading among departmental employees until it is the foremost issue

Dry Nation Will Boost Bakeries

CEDAR POINT, O., July 16.—Declaring that the baking industry was one of the greatest contenders for the estate of the late John B. Blye, Elmer L. Cline, of Indianapolis, in addressing the Tri-State Association of the baking industry today said that the psychological time had come for the trade to exploit the real merits of sweet bakery products not only as a food but a refreshing indulgence.

"As the family circle replaces the cafe as the principal center of social activity," said Cline, "it is the baker's chance to promote health, social ability and fellowship by creating a demand for bread cake and pastry in dry states. He said there was a noticeable increase in the sale of confections."

REPORTING MUCH BETTER HEALTH IN BRINNON HOME

Mrs. Brinnon Tells How Nerv-Worth Brought Happy Results to Her Husband.

Sufferers in local and neighborhood communities will read the following story of recovered health with keen interest. It came to the Urbana Nerv-Worth druggist, from a source that gives it credit: Welsheimer & Butler—My husband was all run-down. Suffered from "that tired feeling" and was sleepless at night. Suffered greatly from heartburn and gas on his stomach. He was so terribly weak that he could hardly get around. He has taken one bottle of Nerv-Worth and feels like a different man. He sleeps like a log and is getting so much stronger. Nerv-Worth certainly has helped him and we were certainly surprised at its quick results. We are both enthusiastic in our praise of Nerv-Worth.
